Section 1: General Information

Course Objectives

To provide duly appointed VA Police Officers with a specialized orientation to agency law enforcement policies and procedures; training that will ensure the proper exercise of federal statutory law enforcement authority; and, specialized training that will prepare them for situations that involve patients or persons of diminished capacity. Conceptually, this course is designed to provide police officers with the knowledge, skills, and ability to blend their duties as law enforcement officers with the special needs of the public they serve.

Predication

All duly appointed VA Police Officers employed by VA medical centers must meet the Office of Personnel Management Qualification Standards for the Police Series, GS-083, at the GS-4 minimum level. This creditable experience or substitute education at a college level, plus satisfactory vouchering of former employers and pre-employment criminal records checks will ensure that employee VA Police Officers possess the basic knowledge, skills, aptitudes, and suitability required of a VA Police Officer.

The VA Police Officer Standardized Training Course is designed to provide basic police occupation qualification training.

Course Design

The VA Police Officer Standardized Training Course is designed to fulfill the requirements of three principal objectives. These objectives are:

1. To fulfill the agency's need for training that will ensure students possess basic police knowledge of and aptitude toward Federal laws and agency regulations and procedures, particularly in the law enforcement subjects of arrest, search and seizure, and their related constitutional safeguards.
2. To explain the guideline standards established by the Office of the Attorney General that require Federal agencies having criminal law enforcement jurisdiction to train all its personnel empowered with law enforcement authority in policies and procedures for preventing the unauthorized use of this authority.
3. To fulfill the requirement that VA Police Officers be trained to deal successfully with situations involving patients at VA healthcare facilities (38 USC, Chapter 9).

A second design consideration of the VA Police Officer Standardized Training Course is to provide ancillary training in the broad range of the agency's operational and administrative policies and procedures that govern the daily conduct of law enforcement activities.

Section 1: General Information

Scope and Duration

In-Residence training at the LETC is 400 hours in duration with emphasis on law enforcement in a service environment.

The 400-hour Police Officer Standardized Training Course, which includes the Semi- Automatic Pistol Course and a Long Gun course are offered to other special-mission or service-oriented federal police agencies.

The scope of the VA Police Officer Standardized Training Course encompasses agency rules, policies, and procedures for the proper exercise of law enforcement authority; those laws and rules to be enforced on VA property; general police knowledge and skills development; and, interpersonal encounter skills for dealing with situations involving people with special needs. Approximately one-fourth of the course length is devoted to interpersonal skills in dealing with situations involving people with diminished capacity.

Presentation

The VA Police Officer Standardized Training Course is presented at the VA Law Enforcement Training Center located on the grounds of the North Little Rock Division of the VA Medical Center, Little Rock, Arkansas.

The Law Enforcement Training Center consists of an administration building and seven additional buildings containing an indoor firing range, matt room, gym and weight room, practical lab rooms, 11 classrooms and 78 dormitory room accommodations.

Section 2: Examination and Validation Process

Introduction

Examinations are essential for measuring a student's ability to learn and retain major learning points of a training program. While students are here at the VA Law Enforcement Training Center, they will be tested on all aspects of the classroom training presented during this course, including Initial Entry and Pre-Graduation General Law Enforcement Examinations. In addition, each student will be required to perform and demonstrate an understanding of the major learning points presented during class lectures, reading assignments, practical labs, unarmed defense training, baton training, physical training test, and firearms proficiency in marksmanship and tactical operations.

Written Examinations

The minimum passing score for the VA Police Officer Standardized Training Course academic portion is 75% on any written examination. In the event of an examination failure, remedial training is offered and a student is given one opportunity to retake the examination for a best possible score of 75%. Any student who fails a second attempt in any examination process will have their training assignment terminated and will be returned to their respective station. A general law enforcement examination will be administered on the first day and last week of residence training. Subsequent written examinations will be administered to account for all training objectives. All weekly exams will focus on information presented during that week of training. Test question design will include true and false, matching, and multiple-choice answer questions.

Students' training performance will be continuously evaluated throughout the training cycle.

Outside agency students will be evaluated in the same manner as VA Police students unless otherwise arranged by the parent agency.

The general law enforcement pre-test is used to establish the student's general level of knowledge and to identify academic deficiencies that might adversely affect the officer's performance during the training course. The general law enforcement final examination is used to measure the effectiveness of training as well as to provide a statistical analysis of overall student improvement after the training cycle.

Section 2: Examination and Validation Process

Physical Training

Being physically fit is important to officer safety and effectiveness. During the ten- week program, students will be required to participate in a progressive fitness training plan. A mandatory physical fitness test will be administered during the seventh week of training. Successful completion of training requires that each officer pass the physical fitness test.

Students will be tested in the following three events: push-ups, sit-ups, and a one- mile timed run. Each event has five (5) possible points. A minimum of three (3) points per event is required. Students failing to achieve the minimum score per event will have one opportunity to re-test. A subsequent failure will result in their training assignment being terminated and the student will be returned to their home station.

The minimum passing score for evaluations in physical training is a 66%.

Defensive Tactics and Ground Defense & Recovery

Students will be provided training in unarmed defensive techniques and ground defense and recovery. They will be required to demonstrate proficiency in these techniques. Students will be tested on their knowledge of pressure points, joint manipulation techniques, stunning techniques, and handcuffing.

The minimum passing score for practical evaluations in defensive tactics, baton, & ground defense and recovery is 75%.

Firearms Training

Students will be afforded extensive training in all areas of firearms. The basic police officer course offers enhanced training in the areas of safety, nomenclature, fundamentals of operations and tactics. Attempts to qualify with the department- approved firearm will be limited to three. If the firearms instructor sees sufficient improvement per qualification attempt, qualification attempts will continue. Remedial training will be offered to ensure deficiencies are addressed. If an officer fails to qualify after the third and final attempt the officer will be returned to their home station.

The minimum passing score for firearm qualification is 80%, or 40 of 50 hits completely inside of the white "bottle" area of a standard sized FBI "Q" target.

A "Top-Gun" competition will be held during the fourth week of training. This competition does not count towards the student's final academic average, however, and award is given for the student who achieves the highest score in this marksmanship competition.

Section 2: Examination and Validation Process

Course Completion

There are 795 possible points which may be accumulated during the ten-week training cycle.

Successful completion of training requires participants to achieve the required minimum academic, skills proficiency and physical fitness test scores. Students not meeting these requirements will not receive a certificate of completion. Honor student status will be awarded to the student that achieves the highest overall cumulative (academic, skills proficiency, and physical fitness) raw score. A student who receives remedial training in any area of training will not be eligible for honor student status. In the event of a tie, the student scoring highest in the “Top-Gun” competition will be awarded honor student status.

Attendance is expected for the full 10 weeks to successfully complete this class. Students may miss up to 8 hours of class for emergency related matters. Missed hours will need to be made up, after normal class time.

Police Operations (General) Continued

1047 Inspection Process

1.5 Hours

Through lecture this course introduces the students to concepts and principles of the report writing. This class will outline recommended procedures for writing effective operational and administrative reports. Expanded topics from report writing I include fundamental report writing topics, such as the importance of reports, gathering facts, field note-taking, effective writing, qualities of a good report, English usage, and retention of original investigative notes.

1048 Executive Protection

1.5 Hours

Through lecture this course is designed to familiarize the students with the inspection and evaluation process for the Police Service. This course is designed to familiarize students with the inspection and evaluation process for the Police Services and help them understand their roles and responsibilities as a police officer. Students will be introduced to compliance factors concerning security and law enforcement directives, policies, and procedures which affect the overall rating of their Police Service Program.

1060 Non-Emergency Vehicle Operations

9.5 Hours

Through lecture this course introduces the students to concepts and principles used in non-emergency vehicle operations, vehicle safety and handling and vehicle check out and pre-operational preparation. This course is a precursor to the physical driving practical.

1083 Vehicle Stops

19.5 Hours

Through lecture and performance based scenarios, officers will explore the basic principles of conducting vehicle stops. Conducting a vehicle stop is among the most dangerous duties police officers perform. VA Police Officers conduct vehicle stops on VA property with regularity. There are VA properties which do not lend themselves to vehicle stops due to physical configuration. These VA Medical Centers are not immune to the basic fundamentals of a vehicle stop. If people are parking their vehicles on VA property then there is a very high probability VA Police Officers will be approaching people in their vehicles and the tactics and procedures of this instruction apply.

1073 Graded Practical Exercises

8 Hours

Graded practical exercises are a series of testable physical labs in which students must demonstrate their ability to function independently as a uniformed police officer. During the course of lab operations, a student must successfully respond to and work through three simulated calls for police service. The graded practical exercises are constructed to adequately measure a student's ability to apply: proper communication skills, use of force and de-escalation techniques, crime scene preservation skills and abilities, and legal judgments and interpretations of law. The student will identify the required needed paper work to complete their scenario.

1134 Police Operations

4 Hours

This block of instruction was developed to explore many of the unique aspects of policing within a VA Medical Center. There are many universals throughout law enforcement as there are in many other professions such as nursing, education, or public relations. What makes VA Police unique is the environment in which policing is conducted. As such, many policies and standard operating procedures have been created and put in place to guide the VA Police officer as he/she fulfills that mission. This course is meant to bring about awareness and applicability of those policies and procedures which govern VA Police activities. The knowledge from this block of instruction will play a large role in officer actions during performance based scenario training and in the professional growth of the officer.

1118 Traffic Crash Investigation

12 Hours

This instruction will focus on the fundamentals of traffic crash investigation with an emphasis on property damage and minor personal injury crashes. Officers will be provided instruction on terms, investigative steps, methods to obtain measurements, rough sketches, and documenting investigative findings. Performance based scenarios will be conducted requiring officers to demonstrate the ability to conduct a traffic crash investigation.

Section 3: Course Descriptions and Duration

Police Operations (Criminal Investigations)

32 Total Hours

1101 Interview Challenge Lab

8 Hours

This instruction creates opportunities for officers to employ, practice, observe interview techniques. Officers will be placed into groups and assigned roles as a video is presented the class body. Class members assigned as responding officers will not be permitted to view the video until after interviews have been conducted. Officers will then fulfill their role as an officer conducting field interviews, a role player being interviewed by the responding officer, or as an observer as the interview process takes place. Those class members assigned as responding officers will then be provided an opportunity to coordinate the information obtained from the field interviews and provide a briefing to the student body what they have determined took place based solely on their interviews.

A review of the video presented will then be conducted by the Instructor with notable discrepancies noted along with successes in determining critical information. Discussion among officers will focus on what adjustments could have been made to conduct a more thorough interview. Officers will then switch roles throughout the training allowing for each officer to conduct interviews, be interviewed, and observe others in the interview process.

1082 Crime Scenes and Evidence Collection

24 Hours

This course introduces the officer to the proper chain of events that occur when processing a crime scene. Topics include scene safety and security, initial examination of the scene, photographing, measuring, sketching, searching, collecting, and final examination of the scene before release. In addition, the course will give the officer a basic knowledge of how to properly complete the necessary evidence forms as well as the proper handling techniques of various types of property. Officers will be required to package different items during their investigations so proper handling techniques are of the most importance for storing and maintaining the integrity of evidence while awaiting a case disposition.
